

For a long time

For a long, long time

I only seemed to know the crate

Now that it falls away

I sit there, blinking in the sun

I sit there, to blind to run

I know, I'm allowed to move

Allowed to take a step or two

But I can't even move my hand, to show you I'm there

Or to say a word, to tell you I still care

I think of you, and it seems - as if a light comes through

Hope, tender as a know grown leaf

Is swirlin' in my blood – it's tellin' me

That there is place, where love could find a space

Even within in me – if I only let it be

I think of you, and it seems – as if a light comes through

Hope, tender as a know grown leaf

Is swirlin' in my blood – it's tellin' me

That there is place, where love could find a space

Even within in me – so... I'm gonna let it be

*Text Copyright A. Kirsten Helmke
ANNEA WORKS*